

Montreal International Folk Festival III

Sun Tarot / August 7th 2004

Although Montreal was saturated with entertainment options last night including the Cresco Street Block Party, The Doors Of The 21st Century at the Bell Ctr. And Les Franco Folk the place to be was at the third annual Montreal International Folk Festival.

The intangibles made this evening so special. The voices of the musicians that traveled from as far as Florida, radiated a warmth throughout this venue that is rarely felt nowadays. This was a joyous gathering of folks and folkies who were truly into the magic of music.

The music began with Alex Dei Busso then shifted over to Elodeé. After a short break for sensation Vox Crosby graced us with a heartfelt yet curt 45 minute set. The husband and wife team of Love And Magic performed wonderful harmonies that spoke of love and understanding; noteworthy were their 3 spoken word performances.

Triskalia wrapped up the evening with a spectacular set that featured their unique and uplifting multi-layered songs. This band just keeps on getting better.

I look forward to attending next year's fest and I can't wait to check out a few concerts before then at Casa T...
